Why choose a dental plan?

Oral health isn't just about your mouth

Good oral health isn't just about avoiding fillings and toothache - it is integral to general health and essential for your wellbeing.

Poor oral health can have knock-on effects in all areas of your life as it is linked to an increased risk of heart disease and strokes from bacteria in the mouth getting into the bloodstream through cavities and gums. So what's the best way to protect yourself and try to avoid this happening? By visiting the dentist regularly.

Prevention is better than cure

It's always better to stop problems before they start and regular dental attendance can help reduce the need for future treatment like fillings. The earlier you start looking after your teeth the better. As we age our teeth and gums naturally deteriorate, so looking after them now is the best way to keep them healthy for the future.

Got great teeth now?

Great news – let Denplan help you keep them that way.

Preventive care needn't cost the earth

Paying for your dental cover with Denplan helps you spread the cost of your regular trips to the dentist so you can maintain excellent oral health. If you do need unexpected treatment, you can rest assured that we will be there to help with the cost.

Top 5 reasons for going to your dentist

- 1 Prevent gum disease

Gum disease can lead to loss of teeth but it can be treated if detected early. Dentists recommend regular check ups as well as daily flossing and brushing, to reduce this risk.

- 2 Prevent mouth cancer

Mouth cancer kills more people in the UK than cervical or testicular cancer*, but is largely preventable - chances of survival increase from 50% to 90% if detected early. Regular trips to your dentist are the best way of monitoring your dental health and catching problems early.

- 3 Avoid losing your teeth

Having regular check-ups means that dental problems can be detected early and dealt with immediately, which could prevent loss of teeth.

- 4 Dental emergencies can be prevented

By taking a preventive approach, your dentist can help keep your teeth in the best condition. This can avoid dental emergencies like abscesses, infections or broken teeth.

- 5 Help maintain good overall health

If your oral health is good this can help your overall health and wellbeing. Gum disease has been linked with heart disease, strokes and pancreatic cancer. By visiting the dentist regularly you can help keep your teeth in the best condition and minimise these risks.

What do I do in a dental emergency?

Suffering dental pain can be a distressing experience - here is what you can do in a dental emergency, as well as some dental first aid tips.

In the UK - you can attend a dentist of your choice or give us a call if you need help in finding one. Your plan includes cover for emergency treatment, see the 'About Denplan Extensive' section for details.

Overseas - if you have a dental emergency when you are away from home you can visit any dentist. If you are unable to find a dentist we will do that for you.

Out of hours - don't worry - if you are in pain during the night or at the weekend, you are still able to find a dentist as your plan covers you for call out fees and emergency treatment. See the 'About Denplan Extensive' section for details.

Dental first aid tips

- Clean the area around the sore tooth thoroughly
- Rinse the mouth vigorously with luke-warm (body temperature) salt water to dislodge trapped food or debris
- Do not use very hot or very cold salt water as this may inflame the situation
- Do not place aspirin on the gum or on the aching tooth
- If the face is swollen, apply a cold compress and seek help from a dentist as soon as possible
- Cold water rinses may temporarily ease the pain from a throbbing tooth
- Avoid lying down as this raises the blood pressure and increases pain.
